

iMD Health Global Corp is the premier provider of iMD Health® internet based provider/patient communication services. The iMD Health platform enables secure, clinically structured communication of educational resources between doctors and patients. iMD Health Global's aim with the iMD Health service is to insure that this communication service is reliable, easy to access, read and understand. It is iMD Health Global Corp's goal that doctors and patients who use our service have full confidence in the quality and integrity of the educational content. iMD Health strives to provide educational content that is objective, accurate and reflects current medical literature. All iMD Health platform content is compiled from a variety of sources and shall not be considered iMD Health authored. Providers who use the iMD Health service are responsible for verifying the accuracy, reliability and completeness of the information contained in the contented materials. iMD Health encourages suggestions and feedback about how our healthcare professional / patient communication service works for you and what we might do to improve it. While we believe the content we offer is of the highest quality, your feedback can help us improve our service to you. Email us at support@imdhealth.com